American hostage wounded while fleeing from hijacked jet

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — An American hostage fleeing a hijacked Indonesian jetliner parked here was shot and wounded in the back Sunday in the second confirmed escape from armed air pirates demanding the release of 84 "political prisoners" in Indonesia.

Two other Americans were reported among the 55 hostages still aboard the Garuda Airlines DC-9, parked at the Don Muang Airport tarmac since five hijackers diverted it here from a domestic flight over Indonesia on Saturday.

The wounded American, identified as Karl Schneider, hometown unknown, was reported in stable condition. Earlier, a British captive escaped through an emergency exit and raced to a golf course while airport workers refueled the craft to keep its generators — and ventilation system — running.

A Thai government spokesman said Indonesia agreed to meet all the demands of the heavily armed hijackers, but would only disclose the one demand — freedom for 84 Indonesian prisoners.

Spokesman Trairong Suwankiri said, however, it was unclear what country would accept the hijackers and the prisoners.

Trairong said the other demands were internal affairs of Indonesia.

Poland tension reaching peak

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Independent unionists will test "the existence of the nation" if they go ahead with Tuesday's threatened nationwide strike, a top Communist Party leader said in opening the Communist Party's emergency meeting Sunday on Poland's worst labor crisis in seven months.

The meeting of the policy-making Central Committee was widely believed to be the setting for a showdown between reformists and hardliners. The meeting is the sixth since Aug. 25 when old guard elements were ousted in the first of several house-cleanings.

The session opened under the shadow of the grimmest-ever assessment in Moscow of the crisis and an announcement in Berlin that "new units" were being sent to participate in Warsaw Pact exercises on Polish soil and in neighboring countries.

The outcome of the threatened strike by the independent union Solidarity "could be unpredictable," said Politburo member Kazimierz Barcikowski in an opening speech. "This is no longer pressure on authorities, but an open fight against socialism. This is a fight for power."

The East German news agency ADN said "new units" were en route to join the 10-day-old "Soyuz 81" Warsaw Pact maneuvers that have been under way in Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

In Rome, Pope John Paul II pleaded that his native land be allowed to solve its own problems, and Poland's Roman Catholic Church broadcast a prayer asking the Virgin Mary "to protect us, so that we do not lose our freedom."

The official Soviet news agency Tass, in dispatches from here, said conditions were "extremely tense" and accused Solidarity of "provocation" and "open methods of struggle against the legitimate state authority."

The news agency also accused Solidarity of being run by dissident groups and warned Westerners to stop supporting "those elements in Poland that are trying to bring things to anarchy."

Warsaw Radio, which broadcast Barcikowski's speech, said Party First Secretary Stanislaw Kania summoned the Central Committee "for a discussion of the party's tasks in the present situation" since Solidarity and government negotiators have failed so far to avert Tuesday's threatened strike.

Solidarity is threatening an open-ended nationwide strike unless the government dismisses officials the union says are responsible for the March 18 beatings of 25 farmers and union activists in Bydgoszcz, north-central Poland.

Polish airspace was closed to foreign aircraft for five hours ending at 5:30 a.m. Sunday for "technical reasons," the government reported. The East German news agency ADN said Warsaw Pact troops held simulated "attacks against airborne troops" in Poland and "accomplished the annihilation of their assumed enemies."

Basketball coach pick expected Monday

By Scott Stahmer
Sports Editor

Men's Athletics Director Gale Sayers has scheduled a press conference to announce his choice for the new head basketball coach at 9 a.m. Monday in Ballroom C of the Student Center.

Of the three candidates for the job, one finalist is a noted disciple of former SIU-C Coach Jack Hartman. Another has turned his team into a national contender in four years. Still another's team has won 86 percent of its games at the junior college level.

These are some of the credentials Joe

Ramsey, coach at Millikin University, Jack Margenthaler, coach at Western Illinois University, and Allen Van Winkle, coach at Jackson, Mich., Community College, bring to SIU-C as finalists for the vacant basketball head coaching job. They were selected from some 60 applicants for the position, which opened up when Joe Gottfried resigned under pressure March 3.

Here are thumbnail sketches of each of the finalists:

JOE RAMSEY
Ramsey, a 37-year-old Sandoval native, played for Hartman's Salukis for three years in the 1960s. He is the No. 16 scorer in SIU-C history.

He said he is a believer in the disciplined style of play Hartman has used successfully here and at Kansas State.

"I really believe in his (Hartman's) fundamental discipline," Ramsey said. "The type of ballplayers you have and the opposition you're playing determine the style of play you use. Flexibility is the key word."

Ramsey has an 84-71 record in six years at Millikin, where he has had to overcome several obstacles. The Big Blue are not allowed to give out athletics scholarships.

Before going to Millikin, Ramsey compiled a 31-21 record in two years at the University of Oklahoma. He said he left because of a dispute with an OU athletics booster.

Ramsey visited SIU-C for an interview with Sayers last Wednesday. He said he was impressed by the University's pledge to emphasize basketball in the future.

"The community and student support will be there if they get a good product," he said.

Ramsey said he hopes to keep good Southern Illinois high school players from leaving the area, but added he wouldn't be afraid to recruit in other areas.

JACK MARGENTHALER

"I guess enthusiasm is the best word to describe me," the 37-year-old Margenthaler said. "Enthusiasm is something we must have if we're going to win basketball games, but I'm enthusiastic about life, not just about basketball."

Is it Van Winkle?

Allen Van Winkle, candidate for the SIU-C basketball coaching job, reportedly was seen getting off a plane Sunday evening at Southern Illinois Airport and being met by Athletics Director Gale Sayers.

Sayers, who is scheduled to announce appointment of a coach Monday, could not be reached for comment.

A desk clerk at a Carbondale motel said Van Winkle was expected to check in but had not arrived shortly before 7 p.m.

Earlier Sunday, a sports news report by WPSD-TV, Paducah, Ky., said sources in Philadelphia, where Van Winkle was attending the NCAA basketball tournament, said he had been chosen for the job and was en route to Carbondale.

El Salvador embassy tense after latest attack

By Tom Fenton
Associated Press Writer

The latest attack on the U.S. Embassy, a rocket-grenade and bullet salvo, has reminded the 65 uneasy Americans who work in the fortress-like compound of their vulnerability in this war-torn nation.

"They were really trying to kill us," embassy spokeswoman Carol Doerflein said of the dozen men who poured rifle fire at the building and blasted a hole in the third floor with an anti-tank rocket on Wednesday. There were no injuries.

"It was one of the few places they could hit the bulling and not hurt anyone," Miss Doerflein, of Toms River, N.J., said in an interview in her basement office.

"The mood is tense ... We are afraid. There's no way we cannot be afraid," she added.

The four-story embassy has been sprayed by gunfire four times in the last three weeks but Wednesday's assault, staged with clockwork precision, was potentially more deadly than any previous attempt.

The attacks on the embassy are believed to have been carried out by extremists on the political left and the right.

El Salvador's leftists are trying to replace the U.S.-backed civilian-military junta with a Marxist government, while rightists oppose the junta, claiming it has shifted too far to the left.

Four men in a pick-up truck sprayed the embassy with gunfire earlier this month in an operation that one embassy official said had the trademarks of a right-wing attack. He declined to elaborate or to be identified.

Leftists are believed responsible for Wednesday's raid.

New security measures are in the works because of the attack.

Salvadoran police now question anyone loitering near the embassy, while upstairs offices are being reshuffled.

The location of the working quarters of Charge d'Affaires

Frederic Chapin, the acting chief of mission, will be known only to a few trusted outsiders.

Visitors to the padlocked front gate on Avenue 25 North are confronted by a pistol-packing Salvadoran security guard, who admits them only after questioning.

At the front door of the building, a visitor is confronted by a concrete wall and two more Salvadoran guards. One, armed with a 12-gauge shotgun, watches while the other frisks visitors.

Visitors enter the lobby through an airport-style metal detector to find a fatigued U.S. Marine behind a bullet-proof glass panel along with a Salvadoran receptionist.

The Marine, who on one occasion was seen with an M-16 rifle slung from his shoulder, controls further progress into the embassy by electronically operated doors.

But embassy personnel have not completely isolated themselves

Seventh Abscam suspect indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. the seventh and most powerful federal politician indicted in the Abscam influence peddling scandal, goes on trial Monday in the most complex case to date.

Although he was one of the first to meet with undercover FBI agents posing as representatives of favor-seeking Arab sheiks, Williams was the last to be indicted.

Bani-Sadr says he won't surrender

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, Iran's embattled president, says he has no intention of "surrendering" to his militant, clergy-backed political opposition. He also said Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is "not god" and has "limited means" to deal with Iran's political discord.

In a telephone interview from Tehran Saturday with The Associated Press here, Bani-Sadr also said an Islamic peace-seeking mission's proposal for a cease-fire in the war between Iran and Iraq could be acceptable, depending upon "clarification" he will seek when the mediators arrive in Tehran on Monday.

Talks end hijacking in Panama

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — An airplane hijacking odyssey in Central America ended when self-proclaimed leftists demanding the release of Salvadoran prisoners apparently accepted Honduras' announcement it would release an unspecified number of imprisoned "common foreign delinquents."

The nationalities of the four masked and armed hijackers of a Honduran jetliner commandeered on Friday and held overnight was not known Sunday. The hijackers were being "detained" in Panama, which negotiated an end to the hijacking, while their request for asylum in Cuba was relayed.

None of the 50 hostages, including eight Americans, were injured.

Commerce Commission policy Car damages store wall

By Scott Canon
Staff Writer

A group of Southern Illinois residents gathered at a rally in Marion Saturday to show support for legislation that would change the way members of Illinois Commerce Commission are selected.

About 50 to 70 members of the Southern County Action Movement gathered in front of the Central Illinois Public Service Company regional office to support legislation that would require ICC members be chosen in general elections, instead of the current process of recommendation by the Governor and approval by the Senate.

Max Aud, SCAM spokesman, said the ICC has been insensitive to utility consumers and has been too lenient with utility companies in granting rate hikes.

"For too long, the Illinois utility industry has used its well-heeled lobbyists to turn legislators away from the needs of the consumer," Aud said. "We want to show the legislators they had better start listening to us."

Aud called on local legislators and citizens to support the legislation, sponsored by State Sen. Vince DeMuzio, D-49th District, because, "The ICC has become unsympathetic to the average ratepayer."

The ICC, Aud said, allowed state electric rates to double the pace of overall inflation from 1973 to 1979.

CIPS was granted 51.3 percent of its requested rate hike last Wednesday, including a 10.7 percent increase in electric rates and a 2.3 percent increase in natural gas rates. Aud said those increases were unfair.

An SIU-C student was charged with driving while intoxicated early Saturday morning after she drove through the east wall of Pick's Liquors, located in the Lewis Park Mall, causing between $25,000 and $30,000 damages, Carbondale police said.

were damaged, according to police. Perry was not injured, and she was released after posting her driver's licence as bond, police said.

Reagan cuts opposed by coalition

By Scott Canon
Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois Mobilization Committee, a coalition of members from social service, community development and political activist groups, has scheduled its second organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Monday at the New Life Center, 913 South Illinois Avenue. Brian Bridgeford, head of the committee, said SIMC has been formed to mobilize opposition to policies of the Reagan administration.

To protest cuts by the administration in social services and economic development, the committee is planning letter-writing and petitioning campaigns and a rally.

SIMC will also protest Reagan's foreign policy, he said. The group will oppose increased military spending.

"First Reagan makes these cuts at home that are going to cripple the poor. Then he boosts the military budget by $40 billion and starts sending advisors to El Salvador," said Bridgeford.

Isn't freedom of choice really a freedom to kill?

By Tim Capps
Student Writer

AN ARGUMENT SUCH as Mr. Phillips', among the bar and restaurant ads, reminds me that the Daily Egyptian really is a college newspaper. The exchange of ideas is an essential element in a living university, and I would like to do my part by taking exception to nearly everything Mr. Phillips said in his viewpoint last Thursday.

Freedom of choice is the war cry of the pro-abortion forces. Of course they don't call themselves pro-abortion. It is pro-choice, if you please. Abortion is an ugly word and I can't really blame them for hiding it behind a smoke screen of "freedom." Their very avoidance of the word, however, seems to hint that even abortion's proponents find something wrong with the act, just as the polite Victorian avoided even the most oblique reference to sex. If they wish to be completely honest, they should approach the subject with the same frankness of their predecessors, such as the Marquis de Sade. This lack of honesty (and consequent diminishing of credibility) does not disturb me, though. What is truly ugly is their impressment of the word freedom into the service of the ultimate tyranny—the arbitrary ending of human life.

I THINK A GOOD MEASURE of how far a culture has advanced from barbarism is the respect it shows for human life. When the prophet Mohammed stopped the pagan Arab practice of burying alive newborn girls, that was a step forward. I am sure the traditionalists had good arguments in favor of the practice. To people living in desert poverty where resources were scarce, the birth of a girl represented an unproductive consumer. It must have seemed good to them to dispose of the problem in a quick and bloodless manner. After all, it was just a newborn. Its chances of survival to adulthood probably weren't that good anyway. But Mohammed appealed to authority higher than the human intellect. "It seems to me..." could not stand against "In the name of Allah..." and the burials were stopped. Today, the cheapening of life by abortion bodes ill for a civilization with the power to destroy itself overnight with nuclear weapons.

But now we are back to the philosophy of human opinion, because enlightened folk have once again outgrown God. But whose opinion do we follow? The unborn have no opinion: they have no voice. We certainly don't want to follow the opinions of the ignorant, impoverished, fundamentalist Christian from the "backwoods" of America, nor the poor, undereducated Catholics (the adjectives are Mr. Phillips).

MR. PHILLIPS DOES NOT come right out and say it, but his letter seems to imply that we should follow "the more enlightened college and university population," to which he undoubtedly belongs. This, not the unfounded fear of "legislating away freedoms to satisfy fundamental Christian beliefs," is the real danger. If ever the opinion of an educated elite alone provides the concepts of good and justice, America will cease to be a free country. But sophistry is not a match for the courage and determination of two of the most unlikely allies: the fundamentalist Christian and the Roman Catholic. Whatever differences they may have, they know an abomination when they see one.

Finally, I cannot pass over in silence some interesting comments Mr. Phillips makes toward the end of his letter. First, it is a gross insult to the most respected man in the world and a former member of the Polish underground to say that the present pope's "protestations for social injustice and freedom can be regarded as nothing more than a sham" (I am assuming Mr. Phillips means something like protestations against social injustice and support for freedom).

ALSO HIS COMMENT ON the inevitability of repressive measures against artificial contraceptives, should the anti-abortion lobby be successful, may seem logical to him, but it is a logic I am not familiar with. Contraceptives were freely bought and sold when abortion was still illegal. The actions of a small group are a long way from the force of law, particularly if one remembers that there is just no consensus on the subject of contraception—even among Catholics.

Then Mr. Phillips asks in his last paragraph why God, if he really does exist, doesn't stop abortion himself, presumably through miraculous intervention. If Mr. Phillips holds such an immature view of the Christian faith as this, I suggest he obtain a good, elementary catechism (I'd be happy to lend him one) and do his homework before he writes anymore letters to the editor. I suspect, however, that he believes no such thing, and is following the time-honored practice of creating a caricature of Christianity and gaining easy victory over one's own fabrication rather than beating one's head against the real thing in vain.

Back arguments with logic

For over a year I have been reading editorials which debate the issue of creation vs. evolution. During this time I have yet to read an editorial which presents an analysis of the two very different and opposing views based upon any type of formal logic system. It seems that if either of the factions had an interest in ascertaining the truth, and of persuading others to accept this truth, then the proper method of doing so would be to use a system of formal logic.

Using such a formal system of logic to analyze the two ideas of man's presence on this globe, I have found myself at a crossroads.

On the one hand, I can accept the more scientific point of view and be left in the quagmire of a world which exists either by pure deterministic physical forces, or a world which exists by random chance alone. In the first case, reliance upon the physical laws of the universe, which determine the actions of all bodies within that universe, is "reductio ad absurdum"—reduced to absurdity. This is because the theory of determinism itself would have been determined by those same physical laws which it is now trying to support. There is no truth or falsity. In fact, there is no value at all, except in one object's relationship to another object. At this point the question again becomes one which cannot be answered within a deterministic framework. That question is: Where do these objects now acquire their base value by which they can be compared to another object?

On the other hand, a world which is subject to random chance is not much better off.

First, it is still operating deterministically, that is, by the physical laws of the universe. Secondly, it is operating in a way to exclude those physical laws from having any type of consistent pattern. These physical laws just operate haphazardly. Certainly there is more consistency in our world than what this conclusion would allow.

However, considering creation I find myself in not so secure a situation as I might wish. After all, creation assumes that there is a creator. That there is some type of being which is not totally subject to the physical laws of this universe. A being, which in fact, is in control of these physical laws.

So where did this God come from? Oh, he made himself did he? And just how can I be sure that he made himself (generic language folks)? I see I have to take this on the basis of faith. I have to believe. Personally, people I find this conclusion to be quite scary.

So now we have the three divergent conclusions. We either have a deterministic world without any absolute values, or we have a world which operates completely by chance, or we have an organized world full of values and order which we must accept by faith alone. Truthfully, I accept the latter conclusion. But for supporters of either view let me add: Allow a formal inquiry based upon logical rigor to accompany any scientific or religious arguments. In this way you will make the best progress.—Steve Houseworth, Graduate Student, Physical Education.

SPC movies are sickening events

Recently, I read an article by Mike Royko stating that he doesn't go to the theater anymore because audiences have become too obnoxious. I could not agree with him more.

Nowadays, it seems, people think that they're sitting in their own living room watching TV with friends instead of being in a public place. They don't seem to care that they may be bothering others. Saturday night offered a prime example of this.

I went with some friends to see "How I Won the War" and "Let It Be." About 20 minutes into "Let It Be," I became fed up with some of the people in the crowd. Throughout the entire night the clod behind me was using the back of my seat to test the kicking durability of his gym shoes. About two minutes later a couple of beer bottles rolled down by my feet just after the idiot in front of me finished explaining to his girlfriend how much of a jerk his English teacher is.

Minutes later some airheads decided it was the right time to light up a bowl of grass.

This is not an isolated case. Everytime I've gone to see a movie at the Student Center, similar things have happened. I'm sick and tired of going to a movie and hearing the comments from the bonehead next to me through the entire show.

You would think that SPC would do something about the booze, pot and obnoxious behavior in the theater. But no, they don't care. So I guess a lot of serious movie fans will have to suffer because of the few imbeciles who want to be rude.—Martin Cusack, freshman, Zoology.

Quotable Quotes

"People who cannot get to work, people who will rise in the middle of the night to beat the rush down the highways, people who sit trapped in traffic jams miles long, wasting millions of gallons of gasoline, people who lie in ambulances unable to move will be angry people"—Gov. Jim Thompson in a speech before the Illinois General Assembly Tuesday requesting that a massive new oil tax be approved quickly to provide funds to prevent a mass transit shutdown in Chicago.

COACH from Page 1

Margenthaler's enthusiasm has been infectious at WIU, where he has a 68-43 record in four years. His last two teams, including this season's 21-8 squad, have made the NCAA Division II tournament and set attendance records.

Before Margenthaler arrived, the Leathernecks were perennial losers. Attendance was about 1,000 per home game.

"My decision to apply at SIU was somewhat of a difficult decision. We've worked so hard in the last four years to put pride in the program," Margenthaler said. "The challenge at SIU is so much like the challenge we had here that the job is very appealing to me."

Margenthaler said he would like to build the SIU-C program, much as he has done at WIU.

Margenthaler said his team averaged 88 points per game this year while running a three-lane fast break as often as possible.

"I'm very concerned about shot selection," he said. "If we go down the floor and don't have the break, we go into a motion offense."

"I'm a man-to-man defensive coach. I would say we played 80 percent man. But you have to be able to play both zone and man. Against Wichita State, you have to play zone."

Margenthaler said he does like his players to live with each other, adding that he encourages them to meet students from all cultures and backgrounds. He said he evaluates potential recruits as persons as well as basketball players.

"When we call in a recruit, we know he has talent, or else we wouldn't be talking to him," Margenthaler said. "I want to know that recruit as a person. I don't think you can just go out after basketball-talented persons."

"The key is to work very hard with the young men there now, to convince them they can be winners. I think they can be."

ALLEN VAN WINKLE

Van Winkle was not available for comment—he was in Philadelphia for the NCAA tournament—but the Lafayette, Ind., native's record at Jackson Community College speaks for itself.

In Van Winkle's three years at Jackson, his teams have posted an 88-14 record, including this season's 31-6. The Golden Jets finished second in their junior college state tournament.

Van Winkle has said he considers himself an aggressive recruiter. He has three players, 7-0 center Kevin Willis, 6-6 forward Cleveland Bibbens and 5-10 point guard James Copeland, being recruited by major colleges, and said he would try to sign them if he is hired by the Salukis.

Van Winkle has been an assistant coach at Southwestern Louisiana and West Texas State of the Missouri Valley Conference. The Southwestern Louisiana basketball program was put on probation because of violations which occurred during Van Winkle's tenure at the school, but he was cleared of any wrongdoing.

'Fantasticks' cast hides Student Center flaws

By Alan Sculley
Staff Writer

Energy and good directing overcame the flaws of performing in the poor setting of Student Center Ballroom D making Thursday night's sold-out performance of "The Fantasticks," a Center Stage production, a hit.

Poor seating limited the audience's view of the stage and poor acoustics muddled the sound of the instruments, but the cast performed with energy and enthusiasm. And doing a play which is fine enough to be the longest running musical in American history was certainly another big point in the cast's favor.

This isn't to say the cast could have just walked on the stage and been a success. The cast seemed well prepared for the performance. The songs, which are some of the most memorable in theater, were performed well and the lines and stage movements were also well executed. This made the play flow smoothly from song to song.

Alan Petrich as the narrator, Jeanine Wagner as Luisa and John Coker as Matt were all excellent in the lead parts. Wagner especially shone in her singing parts where her smooth, operatic voice filled in beautifully over the accompaniment.

Still, John Kazee, who played the supporting role of Mortimer, was so funny as the flaky actor ineptly portraying an Indian and a pirate, that he nearly stole the show while he was on stage.

Another big factor in the success of "The Fantasticks" was the directing of Michael Blum. He arranged the stage movements so well that even when other actors were on the stage, the audience was focused on the performers who were involved with the main action at the time. The actors not involved in the stage activity often seemed invisible.

Also, even though the actors were confined to a relatively small stage, Blum kept the movements separate from each other so the stage never appeared cluttered.

All this added up to a play that was enjoyable, funny and well...fantastic.

"The Fantasticks" will be presented again at 8 p.m. Saturday in Ballroom D of the Student Center.

Program helps children kick the television habit

CHICAGO (AP) — Eleven-year-old David Kahn adopted a trombone as a new close friend after dumping a companion he once spent 10 hours a day with — television. He says he doesn't miss TV.

And Monica Pencz, also 11, doesn't spend five hours a day in front of the television anymore. Her grades are better, she plays basketball and is seeing friends more often.

The sixth graders and dozens of other children kicked the TV habit with a five-week psychology course aiming at developing "an interest in activities outside TV," says Patty Rebek, director of the DePaul University program.

By the end of the course, children should be watching no more than two hours of television on weekdays and three hours on weekends.

"Once I got hooked on it, I couldn't get off," said Kahn. "I just watched any show." His mother, Florence Kahn, said "anytime he walked by the set it had to be turned on — it had to be on even if he wasn't watching it."

Pencz confessed, "I couldn't get away from it. My homework wasn't getting done. I just forgot about all my friends."

The psychology program operates on a "point system" that rewards children for staying away from television.

Arena asks lines for REO tickets start on Monday

The Arena Director's Office has requested that ticket lines for the REO Speedwagon concert not begin prior to noon Monday, according to Julie Moller, director of publicity for the Arena.

The Arena, however, is not regulating the ticket lines. Tickets for the April 22 show go on sale at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Arena South Lobby Ticket Office.

'Jupiter effect' probably won't cause catastrophes on earth

By Robert Locke
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES — With a title like "The Jupiter Effect," it was a shoo-in to interest cult followers and sci-fi buffs.

But when its authors said the celestial phenomenon would trigger earthquakes, Californians and others with reason to worry about the shifting Earth perked up.

Seven years later, and one year before the book said that the planets of the solar system would align themselves against the sun and spark a worldwide wave of earthquakes, the theory has largely been put to rest.

Serious scientists, disdainful of the hypothesis when it was first proposed in 1974, emphatically reject "The Jupiter Effect" as bad science. Even one of the two British authors of the book has recanted.

"I have bad news for the doomsayers: the book has now been proven wrong. The whole basis of the 1982 prediction is gone," the co-author, astrophysicist John Gribbin, wrote in Omni magazine's June 1980 issue.

"Because of the way the book has been misused by cultists who must never have read it," he said, "I want to make it clear that there is no reason now to expect any unusual seismic disturbance in 1982 from the causes given in the book."

"The Jupiter Effect," which Gribbin wrote with Stephen Plagemann, contended: "Planetary alignment is ... the key to the trigger for unusually high levels of terrestrial earthquake activity. It turns out that there will be a very rare alignment of the planets, with all of them pulling together on the sun, in the early 1980s," and becoming most potent in 1982.

The idea is that the combined gravitational forces of the nine planets will be aimed at the sun, where the resulting tidal forces would spark extraordinary solar activity.

This activity, in turn, would greatly increase the number of charged particles streaming from the sun, known as the solar wind. This flood of subatomic particles racing toward Earth would cause such turbulence in the atmosphere that the Earth's rotation would be changed slightly.

Oscar awards picked by entertainment staff

By Bill Crowe
Staff Writer

A few interesting questions will be answered at the 53rd annual Academy Awards ceremonies Monday in Los Angeles.

Will Jack Lemmon become the second actor in academy history to hold three Oscars (tying Walter Brennan) following his nomination for "Tribute?"

Can Robert Redford, a fine actor who has long been saddled with the label of Hollywood pretty boy, grab the best director statue in his first effort against such quality competition as Roman Polanski and other first time nominees like Martin Scorsese and Richard Rush?

And can Jason Robards also tie the record with his third Oscar in his supporting portrayal of Howard Hughes in "Melvin and Howard"? Or will the honors go to one of four first time nominees, including red-hot newcomers Timothy Hutton and Joe Pesci?

The consistent high quality of this year's nominees make the process of predicting a hazardous venture, to say the least. However, here's a preview of the competition in the top categories, followed by the predictions for a winner by Daily Egyptian entertainment editor Rod Smith and staff writer Bill Crowe:

BEST ACTOR:

Robert DeNiro, "Raging Bull"—This is his fourth Oscar nomination and the third in this category. He won the award for best supporting actor for "The Godfather Part II." A victory could make him the second actor, along with Lemmon, to hold Oscars in both acting categories.

Robert Duvall, "The Great Santini"—A victory here would be this actor's first in three nominations. He was previously nominated for supporting roles in "The Godfather" and "Apocalypse Now."

John Hurt, "The Elephant Man"—A nominee for a supporting performance in 1978 for "Midnight Express," this is his first lead actor nomination.

Jack Lemmon, "Tribute"—This is the veteran's seventh nomination and the sixth in this category. He has previously won for a supporting performance in "Mister Roberts" and the lead in "Save the Tiger."

Peter O'Toole, "The Stunt Man"—A five-time loser in the best actor category, he has been nominated for "Lawrence of Arabia," "Becket," "The Lion in Winter," "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "The Ruling Class."

Prediction: DeNiro for his searing physical and psychological acting essay of former middleweight champ Jake LaMotta.

BEST ACTRESS:
Ellen Burstyn, "Resurrection"—This is her fifth Oscar nomination and fourth in this category, winning the prize in 1974 for "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Goldie Hawn, "Private Benjamin"—A winner of the supporting actress award in 1969 for "Cactus Flower," this is her first lead actress nomination.

Mary Tyler Moore, "Ordinary People"—This is the former TV star's first Oscar nomination.

Gena Rowlands, "Gloria"—She was nominated in this category for "A Woman Under the Influence" in 1974. This is her second nomination.

Sissy Spacek, "Coal Miner's Daughter"—This is also her second nomination, being previously recognized in 1976 for "Carrie."

Prediction: Spacek, who actually did her own singing and faithfully recreated the life of Loretta Lynn, a poor girl who fights her way to the top of the country music world.

SUPPORTING ACTOR:
Judd Hirsch, "Ordinary People"—This is the first nomination for the star of TV's "Taxi."

"SPRING SPECIAL"

Timothy Hutton, "Ordinary People"—Another first time nominee, this film was his debut.

Michael O'Keefe, "The Great Santini"—Another first time nominee.

Joe Pesci, "Raging Bull"—Playing LaMotta's younger brother Joey, this actor is yet another newcomer to Oscar competition.

Jason Robards, "Melvin and Howard"—This is his third nomination in this category, winning in his two previous attempts for performances in "All the President's Men" and "Julia."

Prediction: Hutton, whose effective portrayal of a troubled teenager held together the whole storyline of "Ordinary People."

SUPPORTING ACTRESS
(all first-time nominees):

Eileen Brennan, "Private Benjamin"

Eva Le Gallienne, "Resurrection"—At the age of 82, she's the oldest nominee in academy history.

Cathy Moriarty, "Raging Bull"

Diana Scarwid, "Inside Moves"

Mary Steenburgen, "Melvin and Howard"

Prediction: Moriarty, again an impressive debut which is not diminished by the film's overall excellence.

DIRECTOR:

David Lynch, "The Elephant Man"—The director of the cult classic "Eraserhead" hits the big time.

Robert Redford, "Ordinary People"—His first directorial effort proves that he's much more than a pretty face.

Martin Scorsese, "Raging Bull"—Surprisingly, this is his first nomination after heading up such films as "Taxi Driver" and "Mean Streets."

Richard Rush, "The Stunt Man"—This is his first nomination.

Roman Polanski, "Tess"—This is his second directing nomination, gaining a nomination in 1974 for "Chinatown."

Prediction: Scorsese, for his intense vision of an evil man's life both in and out of the boxing ring.

BEST PICTURE: "Coal Miner's Daughter"—seven nominations in all.

"The Elephant Man"—tied with "Raging Bull" for most nominations with eight apiece.

"Ordinary People"—Redford's simple, yet introspective drama garnered six nominations.

"Raging Bull"—definitely the film to beat this year, and deservedly so.

"Tess"—Polanski's lush interpretation of the famous Thomas Hardy story attracted six nominations.

Prediction: "Raging Bull," a remarkable view into the brutish mind of a man who is inherently evil.

Tumblers fall to fifth in Midwest Regional

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

The season is over for the SIU-C women's gymnastics team, according to Saluki Coach Herb Vogel.

Despite being the defending champions and the top-seeded team going into the Midwest Regional Championship meet, the Salukis finished a dismal fifth with a score of 138.00 at the meet held Friday and Saturday in East Lansing, Mich.

It was only the second time since 1971 that the Salukis have failed to win the regional title. Ohio State, the fourth-seeded team, won the meet with a season-high score of 142.35. Michigan State finished second with 141.30, Illinois-Chicago Circle placed third with 139.40 and Michigan was fourth with 138.20.

According to Vogel, the Salukis appeared as if they were not trained or coached.

"There was no team spirit at the meet," Vogel added. "We literally gave away 8.25 points. We were more afraid of losing than making a team effort to win. If we had done what we were supposed to do, we could have scored a 146.25, which would have put us into sixth place for the national meet. I'm very disappointed in our team's showing."

SIU-C's Val Painton placed fourth in the all-around competition with a 35.55 score. Painton scored a 9.25 in floor exercise, finishing second to Circle's Lori Zabel. Painton also placed eighth in vaulting with a 9.0 score.

"Painton competed as if she was an inexperienced freshman," Vogel said. "Had she gone out and been totally aggressive instead of playing it safe, she could have scored 37-plus in all-around competition."

The Salukis were as bad as they were in their season opener, Vogel said, missing 14 of 19 routines.

"If we just had a 50-percent day," Vogel added, "it would have been all right. The way it was, we missed every routine in bars and beam."

SIU-C's Lori Erickson had a 34.45 score in the all-around competition, and scored a 9.1 in vaulting.

"Erickson got caught with her routines not being difficult," Vogel said. "She competed very hard, though, and scored an 8.2 in bars."

Saluki Pam Turner had a 33.85 all-around score, and scored a 9.1 in the balance beam.

"Turner competed well on the beam," Vogel said, "but her overweight problem caught up with her on bars. She did not have the strength and endurance needed. She gave up two points in bars and one point in floor exercise."

Vogel said SIU-C's Denise Didier missed all three events she competed in.

"Didier made mistakes in bars and beam, but she didn't quit," Vogel added. "She kept on going and tried to make it up. She made up for her mistakes and was able to save points for us."

Co-captain Painton has a chance to qualify as an individual to the nationals, Vogel added, but he won't know until the middle of the week.

"Painton is one of the better gymnasts in the United States," Vogel said, "but she has to believe it, and stop playing it safe."

Team member wins scholarship

By Mary Wirtz
Student Writer

A member of the SIU-C Racquetball Club won a $1,000 scholarship at the third annual United States Racquetball Association Intercollegiate Racquetball Championships March 13-15 in Champaign.

Kim Drader, junior in marketing, was awarded the scholarship for winning the No. 2-seeded women's singles division. The scholarship was donated by the Leach and Senco racquet companies.

Drader will compete as the No. 1-seeded women's singles player April 11-13 in the American Amateur Racquetball Association Intercollegiate Championships at Memphis State.

Bob Clar, No. 1-seeded player in the men's singles division, lost in the semifinals. Roger Uyttebroek, No. 2-seeded player in the men's singles division, lost in the quarterfinals.

The No. 1-seeded men's doubles team, Andy Wilson and Jim Bicek, lost in the first round.

The No. 2-seeded men's doubles team lost in the quarterfinals.

behind ISU All-American Mike Matteson until two laps to go, then burst out in front and held on to win with a time of 31:01.12. It was the first time Keane had beaten his Redbird counterpart. Matteson finished with a 31:15.7.

SIU-C's Ken Perkins ran a 1:55.06 to capture the 800-meter run.

In the field, the Salukis did very well. SIU-C got a strong performance from John Smith, who was a double winner in the shot put, 52-5½, and discus, 169-8. Ken Mathias won the javelin with a 211-8½, John Sayre won the pole vault, which was uncontested by ISU or Lincoln, with a 16-9 and Kevin Baker got top honors in the long jump at 23-6¼.

ground was "under repair," McGirr, one of the three members of the rules committee, said. "If so, it would've lowered her score one stroke, but I was the only one on the committee who would've ruled it was 'under repair.' That incident really shattered Barb's concentration and hurt her score, but that's the type of thing you've just got to learn to overcome."

The Salukis overcame one problem they had in last week's Duke Invitational, the large number of high scores on certain holes.

"We had many fewer, which makes me think we're coming around," McGirr said. "We really needed the confidence the low scores gave us, but we still need to knock our scores down even more."

Saluki pitching comes through at Miami

By Dave Kane
Associate Sports Editor

Faced with a burdensome, six-games-in-three-days schedule, the Saluki baseball team went into the weekend in hopes of getting maximum mileage out of its starting pitchers. The six-game weekend turned to four when Sunday's home doubleheader was rained out against Lewis University, and with the exception of one game on Friday, SIU-C's mound hopes were realized.

The Salukis' trip to Oxford, Ohio, resulted in a doubleheader split against Miami of Ohio on Friday and a sweep of the Redskins on Saturday. SIU-C improved to 10-7 and Miami of Ohio dropped to 3-12.

"That was quite the case," Saluki pitching Coach Jerry Green said of the team's pitching effort. "We needed our starters to give us as many innings as we could, and we got help out of the bullpen. You always look for a complete game, but this weekend more than usual."

Junior starter Rob Clark got his fourth win against no losses in the first game Friday as the Salukis took a 6-3 win. He struck out four and walked three, but needed help from Paul Evans out of the bullpen to stop a last-inning Miami rally in the bottom of the seventh. With two runs scored in the inning, Evans came into a one-out, bases-loaded jam. He got the next two batters on ground outs and gained his third save of the year.

SIU-C only held a 2-1 lead going into the top of the seventh, but Corey Zawadzki, who brought his average to a team-leading .355 in the four games, led off with a single and reached second on an error. Bobby Doerrer followed with an RBI double. After walks to Mike Mesh and Mike Blumhorst, cleanup hitter Kurt Reid hit a double to clear the bases and give SIU-C a 6-1 lead. Reid leads the team with 15 RBI.

The second game was decided early. Saluki freshman Steve Nelson started, but in the second inning gave way to reliever Steve Holhubner, who pitched through the fourth. Nelson and Holhubner were charged with all of the Redskins runs as Miami took a 10-1 win. Nelson took the loss and is 1-1.

On Saturday, sophomore Ken Klump evened his record at 2-2 and went the full seven innings in a 3-1 SIU-C win. Klump, in his first season of pitching on a regular basis, struck out one while walking three, but got all the runs he needed in the third when Mesh scored on P.J. Schranz' sacrifice fly and Reid scored on a single by catcher Gary Kempton. Reid added his second home run of the year with no one on base in the seventh.

The Salukis' 8-2 win in Saturday's second game was made possible through six Redskins errors and another complete-game pitching effort, this one by senior righthander Harold Brown, 1-1, who struck out five and walked two.

With a 2-1 lead, SIU-C proceeded to score three runs in both the fifth and sixth. Kempton, limited to a designated hitter's role because of a hand injury, hit a three-run homer in the fifth, his second of the season.

Softball team plagued by rain, lack of hitting

By Michelle Schwent
Staff Writer

Rain and lack of hitting, two hazards which plagued the Saluki softball team last season, struck again over the weekend.

The Salukis lost a home doubleheader to Illinois State Saturday while Sunday's scheduled doubleheader with Northern Illinois was rained out.

SIU-C was limited to a total of two hits in both games Saturday as ISU's Bonnie Kraemer pitched a no-hitter in the first game.

It was an old friend who helped doom the Salukis in both games. ISU shortstop Deb Stamm, a former Saluki, singled in the fourth inning of the first game. She advanced to third on a sacrifice by Wendy Smith and a throw by Saluki first baseman Pat Stang to third base which never reached third. Stamm scored on Jane Gebner's sacrifice fly to left.

The Redbirds scored two more runs in the fifth inning on a single by Nancy Roth, a triple by Laura Prihoda and single by Mary Ivy for the 3-0 win.

Kraemer struck out 10 in the game and improved her record to 8-1. Freshman Sunny Clark of Herrin gave up six hits, struck out six and walked one. Clark's record is 2-2.

The second game was a little closer because of a seventh inning challenge by the Salukis but the Redbirds held on to win 3-1.

The Redbirds struck early as Smith hit a solo homerun in the second inning to put ISU on top 1-0.

The Salukis scored their lone run of the day in the bottom of the second. Karen Koltnow drew a walk, Linda Brown sacrificed and Koltnow eventually scored on an illegal pitch to Val Upchurch.

ISU scored again in the fourth inning on a triple by Stamm and a sacrifice fly by Smith.

The Redbirds scored an insurance run in the seventh inning. Smith walked and Prihoda ran for her. Prihoda stole second and went to third when catcher Upchurch fired the ball to second but no one was covering the base and the ball ended up in center field. Gebner hit a line drive up the middle to score Prihoda for the final ISU run.

The Salukis threatened in the bottom of the seventh. With one out, substitute left fielder Kathy Clements and Upchurch drew back-to-back walks to put the tying runs on base. Lucy Paprovski pinch hit for Karen Tonks but popped out to the catcher. Designated hitter Debbie Duncan struck out to end the game.

The Salukis travel to Springfield, Mo., for the Southwest Missouri State Invitational this weekend.

Bulls edge Pacers, 101-97

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indiana Pacers and the Chicago Bulls are both playoff-bound, but Chicago's 101-97 victory was much more than a tune-up as it settled second place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division.

Chicago Coach Jerry Sloan compared the game to the intensity of a playoff battle.

"I don't think there's any question that it was," he said after baskets by Ricky Sobers and Artis Gilmore in the final 42 seconds produced the victory.

"We did just what we wanted to do near the end of the game," Sloan said. "Ricky hit a really big shot coming down the stretch that helped us weather the storm."

The Bulls shot 54 percent for the game, but were never able to open a commanding lead despite hitting 72 percent (13 of 18) in the second quarter.

"We made a few mistakes defensively, more than a few," said Indiana Coach Jack McKinney quietly as he fought the emotions of disappointment over the loss.

"I'd like to say how I feel, but it would not be very smart," he said.

ISU, Lincoln blown away by trackmen

By Greg Walsh

Saturday was not a perfect day for a track meet, but the Saluki trackmen adapted well. Although the mild 70-degree temperatures and sunny skies caused many of the crowd of approximately 300 to wear cutoffs and short-sleeve shirts, the wind was whipping out of the south at 20 mph with gusts of up to 30 mph.

Judging from SIU-C's winning performance, however, the team could have just as easily been competing in a vacuum as on the ancient track at McAndrew Stadium.

SIU-C ran off with the triangular meet, ripping Missouri Valley Conference foe Illinois State, 116-50, and Lincoln College which had 35. SIU-C is now 3-0 in outdoor season competition.

It is the last meet to be held on the 440-yard track, before it is resurfaced and converted to a 400-meter track for the MVC meet here May 16-17. The Salukis' scheduled home meet against Illinois April 18 has been moved to Champaign in order to keep work on the track on schedule.

Saturday, the Salukis gained most of their points in the field where they won all but three events. But they also contended in all running events and won the 400-meter relay and mile relay.

Saluki Coach Lew Hartzog said the win was a team effort. "I am pleased with the whole team. They all competed well and did a super job," he said.

Redbird Coach John Coughlan, on the other hand, admitted his basically running team was hurt by the windy conditions. He also said his team just was not ready to face the Salukis.

"You can tell we just aren't ready at this time in the year." Still, there were some outstanding races in the meet, including the last race of the day, the mile relay.

SIU-C had trailed most of the race, so when anchorman David Lee got the baton he was trailing ISU's freshman standout Ernie Davenport by about four yards. But Lee caught Davenport on the third turn and beat him at the tape by 10 of a second to win it for the Salukis. Lee had run a 46.9 quarter-mile.

Added to the first three runs of Mike Ward, Javell Heggs and Lance Peeler, the Salukis had an overall time of 3:11.3. ISU finished with a 3:11.4.

Hartzog said, "Lee has been doing that for the past three years," and added "he is not a good athlete, he is a great one."

Earlier in the day, Lee won his specialty, the 400-meter intermediate hurdles with a time of 49.65 and set a new McAndrew Stadium record in the process. He is the defending 1980 NCAA outdoor intermediate hurdlng champion and 1980 Olympic team member.

Lee also captured the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 14.61.

In the other relay the Salukis' 400 relay team of Heggs, Marvin Hinton, Lee and Clarence Robison won with a time of 40.73, only .02 over ISU.

In the 10,000-meter race, Saluki Mike Keate ran close

Texas captures first place

Tankers swim to 15th in NCAA meet

Two members of the Saluki swimming and diving team broke three SIU-C varsity records as SIU-C finished 15th in the 1981 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships held Thursday through Saturday in Austin, Texas. The Salukis scored 55 points, the most they have ever scored in NCAA competition.

The 15th-place finish marked a big improvement over the Salukis' 27th-place finish last year, when they scored only eight points.

Texas, with a home-pool advantage, took first place with 255 points, UCLA placed second with 189 and Florida finished third with 180.

Saluki Roger VonJouanne set new SIU-C varsity records in both the 200- and 400-yard individual medleys. Thursday night, VonJouanne, a junior, placed fifth in the 200 IM with a time of 1:49.23. Friday night, VonJouanne finished fifth in the consolation heat of the 400 IM at 3:54.11.

On Saturday, VonJouanne also placed sixth in the 200-yard butterfly with a time of 1:47.71.

SIU-C's Anders Norling set a new SIU-C record in the 200-yard breaststroke at 2:01.4, breaking the old record time of 2:02.2 set by Pablo Restrepo in 1980.

"We scored in nine events, the most ever for us," Saluki Coach Bob Steele said. "We had some minor disappointments, but considering the quality of the competition and the pressure involved, I'm very pleased with the outcome."

Saluki Conrado Porta placed in both the 100- and 200-yard backstrokes. In the 100 back, Porta finished 10th with a time of 51.10. He came in 12th in the 200 back at 1:49.96.

In the 400-yard medley relay, VonJouanne, Porta, Norling and Pat Looby tied for ninth place with Arkansas with a time of 3:19.75.

Saluki diver Rick Theobald finished sixth in one-meter diving with a score of 489.60. Theobald also placed ninth in three-meter diving with a 476.15 score.

Golfers take first at O'Fallon

Three of the five teams were in position to win after the first day of the five-team women's golf tournament at O'Fallon over the weekend, and SIU-C won.

The Salukis had a four-stroke lead over Illinois and a 10-stroke lead over Wisconsin after the first 18-hole par-74 round.

"It's really a confidence builder for the girls to win a close one like this," SIU-C Coach Mary Beth McGirr said. "The scores were pretty good considering the wind. It was fairly windy the first day, and it was like being in a hurricane the second day."

The Salukis finished with 682 strokes, with the top four scores of their five players being added. Illinois finished with 687, the Wisconsin "A" team with 696, the Wisconsin "B" team with 758, and Evansville finished with 842.

Illinois' score included the tournament-best 12-over-par 160 of Mary Ellen Murphy, who had a 79 the second day.

The second and third best performances were supplied by Salukis Barb Anderson and Tracy Keller. Anderson shot a 166, Keller a 167.

"Tracy played exceptionally well," McGirr said. "I'm really pleased with the way she's coming along, and Barb would've had an even better score if she hadn't had an official ruling go against her."

Anderson was tied for the lead and was near the end of her 36 holes when her ball landed in some freshly-sodded grass.

"The question was if the

If the SIU-C women's tennis team gets any hotter, its courts will melt.

After winning home matches over Northern Illinois, Western Illinois and Stephens College Friday and Saturday, the Lady Salukis had improved their spring record to 10-2 and had a four-match winning streak. Counting the fall season, they've won 15 of their last 18 meets.

SIU-C lost just two individual matches all weekend, defeating NIU, 8-1 Friday, and WIU, 8-1, and Stephens, 9-0, Saturday.

"We had a real good weekend," Saluki Coach Judy Auld understated. "I think it was just a total team effort. Everyone played well."

Every Saluki but sophomore Becky Ingram (1-2 in singles play) had a perfect weekend. Lisa Warren, Jeannie Jones, Debbie Martin, Stacy Sherman, Mona Etchison and Tammy Kurtz won all of their singles matches, while the doubles teams of Warren-Jones, Martin-Sherman and Ingram-Etchison also went undefeated.

The Salukis showed an ability to win close matches, especially against WIU. The Westerwinds had been undefeated this spring, but three-set victories by Jones and Martin over Sue Legatowicz and Nancy Bean assured an SIU-C triumph.

"I think that could be a result of the spring trip," Auld said. "We're a little bit more mentally prepared and intense. I think that toward the end of the fall season, we were doing that."

Auld still picked out things the Salukis could have done better. In the win over NIU—perhaps SIU-C's most ragged performance of the weekend—she said her team had problems with its serving and doubles play.

"So much of the game revolves around the serve," Auld said. "If you have trouble getting your serves in, it affects your whole game. Maybe we're trying to do too much with our serves."

"Our doubles didn't look too sharp. They were playing according to the competition they were going against. If it's a less-than-perfect performance, I'm not pleased, because I know what they can do."

But Auld isn't complaining about the Salukis' record thus far, as the team must win just one more match to assure a winning season. SIU-C can accomplish that goal Wednesday with a win at Memphis State.

After that, the team will travel to Columbus, Miss., for the Southern Collegiate Tournament. Auld said many nationally-ranked teams will participate in that meet.
